Nuisance Wild Animal Referral Book

We appreciate your interest in our referral book. This is our 13th consecutive year for providing this handbook and we continue to provide a practical and dependable solution to human and wild animal conflicts.

The members listed in this handbook can provide assistance in exclusion, habitat modification as a deterrent, population reduction and maintenance, or zero tolerance management. Additionally, we are committed to educating the public to better understand wild animal behavior and conflict resolution process.

Due to the variety of species and problems we encounter, you may have to contact more than one individual to resolve a specific problem. This service is not part of any state or federal governmental program; therefore the personnel are a private party entity and may assess a fee for their services.

Your questions and comments are welcomed and we thank you for your continued support

Landowner Provisions

The occupant of any land and family members who reside on the land, or the landowner and family members who live with the landowner, do not need a license to:

- trap coyotes, beaver, foxes, raccoon, woodchucks, rabbits and squirrels on the land year-round (see “Beaver Damage Control” on page 17 for more information).
- live trap with cage traps for beaver, coyote, fox, woodchuck, rabbits, raccoons and squirrels on the land at any time in cities, villages or other areas where the discharge of firearms is unlawful. Live trapped animals must be either humanely killed or released within 24 hours on private land with the landowner’s permission.

Beaver Damage Control

Landowners, occupants, and family members living with them may hunt or trap beaver on their land at anytime without a license. If beaver are taken by firearm, the landowner, occupant, or family member harvesting the beaver must be at least 12 years old and comply with firearm possession restrictions (see 2007 Small Game Regulations). Landowners may also trap on beaver dams. Beaver dams may be removed without a permit by the landowners, lessees, or occupants of land.

See DNR publication no. WM-007, Beaver Damage Control, or contact the local DNR office for more information.
